The City of Waukee is located in central Iowa, a western suburb of Des Moines, with a service area population base of approximately 25,000. The City is governed by a mayor and five council members who are committed to meeting the needs of the community. Waukee, once a small town, has grown into a busy city; however, this has not been without the challenges of meeting the needs of the new growth while maintaining affordable natural gas service to its customers.

The City of Waukee gas system was started in 1966 with approximately 200 customers and 3.0 miles of natural gas pipeline. The system to date has approximately 8,047 customers, 144 miles of distribution main and an annual usage of 635,000 Mcf. The City of Waukee contracts gas with Northern Natural Gas who delivers to our TBS using Clayton Energy as its agent.

Due to growth over the past couple of decades, the City of Waukee has contracted with USDI of Unionville, MO to construct and additional 14.5 miles of 8" transmission pipeline. This pipeline connects with Northern Natural Gas at a new location to meet the need for immediate capacity on peak day as well as available capacity for new growth.
